FIRST AID

Ordinary Wounds. These become infected if not given proper care. Allow a fair amount of bleeding except in instances of alarming hemorrhage, then apply antiseptic and a sterile bandage. Then see nurse or doctor and follow their directions.

Electric Shock. Rescuer must protect himself with dry woolen clothing, newspaper, rubber goods, etc. Then pull wire away with dry stick. Give artificial respiration. Continue three or four hours, even if there is no sign of revival. Dress burns if necessary. Send for doctor.

Food Poisoning. Induce vomiting if it has not already occurred, give emetic, followed in about half an hour with dose of castor oil or salts. If vomited, repeat in small doses. Keep patient warm and in bed. Give stimulant if necessary. Hold vomiting in check by small drinks of soda water or ginger ale. No food until doctor orders it.

Simple Fracture. Make patient comfortable as possible. Have him lie down. Treat for shock. If doctor is not immediately available, apply necessary splints before moving patient. Improper handling will make injury more serious. Do not move back injuries.

Dog, Cat Bites. Swab every part of wound with antiseptic. Dry with clean gauze. Consult physician at once. Have animal examined and watched carefully. If it remains well for ten days, there is little danger of hydrophobia.

Burns. If caused by acid or alkali, wash the parts gently with plenty of cool, clean water. If caused by heat, a cream of baking soda in water applied to the burned area relieves pain. Treat for shock until doctor comes.

Sprains. Sprains always occur at a joint, usually the wrist or ankle. Keep pressure off the injured part. Apply ice cold cloths on the sprained joint until doctor arrives. If pain is great, apply splints before moving patient.

Drowning. If patient is not breathing, begin artificial respiration immediately. Send for doctor. Don't let anyone interrupt your respiration work. Keep it up for hours if necessary. Keep patient warm. Complete rest is necessary.

Back-pressure, arm-lift. Learn this new method of artificial respiration for drowning, asphyxiation, electric shock. See your local utility company, local Red Cross chapter or write to the National Safety Council, 20 N. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

Ivy, Oak, Sumac Poisoning. Wash immediately with strong soap and water, or rubbing alcohol. Apply dressing soaked in bicarbonate-of-soda solution, or in a 5% solution of ferric chloride in 50% alcohol, prepared by a druggist. If poisoning is bad, see doctor.

Blisters. If necessary to open, wipe off with alcohol. With a sterilized needle, puncture blister at edge, and gently press out water or blood. Apply sterile dressing. If blister is extensive, inflamed, or infected, call doctor.

Choking. Loosen tight clothing around neck. Try to reach down throat and dislodge object with finger. If down too deep, slap victim vigorously between shoulder blades. If this does not work, call doctor. Begin artificial respiration. If victim is child, turn upside down and shake. This may dislodge object.

Object in Ear. Do not attempt to remove it, unless it drops out readily. If an insect enters the ear, put a drop or two of castor oil or sweet oil into the ear. In every case the object should be removed by a physician.

Carbon Monoxide Poisoning. Remove patient to fresh air, but look out for gas while rescuing him. Send for doctor. Use artificial respiration until breathing is restored. Keep at it for several hours if necessary. Keep him warm, in quiet place.

Huntington County lies in the Wabash drainage basin of the state. The northeast quarter of the county is in the Little Wabash subdivision, the southwestern third is in the Salamonie subdivision, the extreme northwest corner is in the El subdivision, and the remainder is in the Wabash basin proper. The Salamonie River is entrenched in its course through the county. The Wabash Valley is rather shallow above its junction with the valley of the Little Wabash River. Stream courses in the southwestern corner are tortuous. The Little Wabash River is a rather small misfit stream in a large valley. Headwater streams of Clear, Silver, and Pony creeks have distorted courses. Surface drainage systems are best developed adjacent to the valleys of the major streams. Many local watershed divides are more or less outlined by sections of moraines in the county. The direction of the courses of streams, stream deflections, increased densities of certain drainage patterns, and the haphazard character of the patterns can probably be attributed to the presence of the moraines. Logan Creek has a curving course. Prairie Creek is deflected eastward near its mouth. Majenica Creek appears to have been affected by the moraine, causing its westerly course. Tributaries of Clear Creek in the northern part are contorted. Silver Creek flows southeasterly before being deflected into the Wabash River. Some local watershed divides are broad and nearly level. The course of Rock Creek and Loon Creek may have been affected by the moraine.

There are no natural lakes in the county. Ponds of various origins are scattered throughout the area. Ditches have been constructed to improve sluggish drainage conditions in the nearly level tracts. Streams have been dredged in various sections.

Stream gaging stations are located on the Little Wabash River at and near Huntington. The drainage area of the Little Wabash River is about 290 square miles.

Note: The drainage map was prepared from USDA aerial photographs in the Joint Highway Research Project at Purdue University.

FIRST AID

Ordinary Wounds. These become infected if not given proper care. Allow a fair amount of bleeding except in instances of alarming hemorrhage, then apply antiseptic and a sterile bandage. Then see nurse or doctor and follow their directions.

Electric Shock. Rescuer must protect himself with dry woolen clothing, newspaper, rubber goods, etc. Then pull wire away with dry stick. Give artificial respiration. Continue three or four hours, even if there is no sign of revival. Dress burns if necessary. Send for doctor.

Food Poisoning. Induce vomiting if it has not already occurred, give emetic, followed in about half an hour with dose of castor oil or salts. If vomited, repeat in small doses. Keep patient warm and in bed. Give stimulant if necessary. Hold vomiting in check by small drinks of soda water or ginger ale. No food until doctor orders it.

Simple Fracture. Make patient comfortable as possible. Have him lie down. Treat for shock. If doctor is not immediately available, apply necessary splints before moving patient. Improper handling will make injury more serious. Do not move back injuries.

Dog, Cat Bites. Swab every part of wound with antiseptic. Dry with clean gauze. Consult physician at once. Have animal examined and watched carefully. If it remains well for ten days, there is little danger of hydrophobia.

Drowning. If patient is not breathing, begin artificial respiration immediately. Send for doctor. Don't let anyone interrupt your respiration work. Keep it up for hours if necessary. Keep patient warm. Complete rest is necessary.

Back-pressure, arm-lift. Learn this new method of artificial respiration for drowning, asphyxiation, electric shock. See your local utility company, local Red Cross chapter or write to the National Safety Council, 20 N. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

Ivy, Oak, Sumac Poisoning. Wash immediately with strong soap and water, or rubbing alcohol. Apply dressing soaked in bicarbonate-of-soda solution, or in a 5% solution of ferric chloride in 50% alcohol, prepared by a druggist. If poisoning is bad, see doctor.

Blisters. If necessary to open, wipe off with alcohol. With a sterilized needle, puncture blister at edge, and gently press out water or blood. Apply sterile dressing. If blister is extensive, inflamed, or infected, call doctor.

Choking. Loosen tight clothing around neck. Try to reach down throat and dislodge object with finger. If down too deep, slap victim vigorously between shoulder blades. If this does not work, call doctor. Begin artificial respiration. If victim is child, turn upside down and shake. This may dislodge object.

ANTIDOTES FOR POISONS

First.—Send for a Physician.

Second.—Induce vomiting by tickling throat with feather or finger; drinking hot water or strong mustard and water. Swallow sweet oil or whites of eggs.

Acids are antidotes for Alkalies, and vice versa.
